Upon the urgent request of The Gettysburg Times Dr. Herbert C. Alleman, Professor emeritus of Old Testament at the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary, now a resident of Silver Spring, Md., wrote the following inspiring Christmas message for readers of The Times:

His Kingdom Will Last

It is one of the ironies of history that the birthday anniversaries of Joseph Stalin and Jesus Christ almost coincide. This year the celebration of them is most conspicuous. As this is being written the Russian autocrat has reached his seventieth year and is being acclaimed by the millions of his subjects.

Not since the days of the Caesars has such adulation been given to mortal man. He has been hailed as the 'inspirer of creation' and worshipped as a god. With slave labor, towers have been reared upon Russia's mountain peaks crowned with statues of him. Gifts have been showered upon him surpassing in magnitude those of the Magi at Bethlehem. But the motive is fear-his announcing angels are the secret police, his standard sharing, as in the seventieth year of Joseph Stalin, the nineteen hundred and forty-ninth year of Jesus Christ from whose manger it has come. It is His birthday that the world celebrates, and His Kingdom will last when earthly mon-

SCRIBE WRITES OPEN LETTER TO JOE STALIN

New York (A)-To Joseph Stalin, care of the Kremlin, USSR Dear Joe.

Congratulations, old Tovarich of wartime, on your happy birthday anniversary. You woke up on the shortest day of winter to find yourself 70 years old-the life span alloted to man by the bible you stud-

They tell me it was the biggest birthday party in history, celebrated by ringing bells and booming guns, with caviar all around, and so much vodka on the house that a man couldn't drink his share with two straws. They say you couldn't have won more gifts if you'd guessed the tune on the "Stop the Music" quiz.

I sure would like to have attended your big hoedown. You Russians really know how to throw a party! when we linked up with your boys rifle for Uncle Sam at the time. We were shy of caviar and vodka, but we tanked up on German wine and traded our rations back and forth. Time To Look Around

It was a wonderful time. We laid aside our guns, your boys and our boys, and laughed and drank together on the river's bank-and nobody was afraid of anybody. None of us who was there can ever forget that first day of full peace and hap-

Well, Joe, now's the time to put up or shut up.

What the common man in all lands has yearned most for is a period of peace and prosperity stretching endlessly ahead for him and his children. The common man everywhere, including the Russian, is sick of shedding his own blood.

The common men aren't mad at each other. And they won't be if their leaders won't sic 'em on.

The Russian working man, like the American, wants a better house, better schooling for the kids, a few enew gadgets around the kitchen to keep his old woman happy, and more meat on the table.

And if you want to be remembered with real love by all the little Ivans of Russia, Joe, that's what you'll give them-instead of three more battleships and 1,000 more submarines. There are no enemies at your gates.

You've got the power, Joe, and if you use it wisely maybe God will give you added years to turn your Russia into the wonderland of plenty you have promised so often. But you can't do it by building army on army. Remember what you yourself once said, Joe: "History shows that invincible armies do not exist.'

Let's really start beating those

There are many men in Adams County who are not great doctors, but they probably keep more souls and bodies together than many a doctor. They will never preach sermons that will save souls, but the contracts they write will save thousands of children from the delinquency which is so often associated with poverty. They will never accumulate a fortune to leave to some great charity, but they will help many persons to master their financial problems so that charity will be unnecessary.

They are the insurance underwriters. They work with imperishable materials. The song and the story, the rhythm and the ebb of life is their business, and underneath the clauses of the contracts they write is the singing heart of financial safety, financial contentment and financial happiness.
